Our Purpose

To foster the development and progress of the art of Police Communication and Inter-communication, and to promote through example and active effort, greater co-operation in the correlation of the work and activities of the several town, city, county, state and Federal law enforcement agencies, and of the communication units thereof, as well as to promote harmonious co-operation between those of the United States of America and territories thereof, and other such agencies of law enforcement and police communication upon the North American Continent, to the end that the safety of human lives, the protection of property, and the general welfare of all peoples concerned may be benefited to the highest degree.

To aid and assist in the development of channels, methods, systems, and all other media for the rapid and accurate collection, exchange, and dissemination of information relating to crime and criminals, emergencies, and other vitally important information of police and emergency nature.

To further, by active effort and example, the co-operation among and between this Corporation and the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the Inter-State Commission on crime, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the United States Secret Service as well as the Federal Communications Commission.

The California Public-Safety Radio Association met at the Elks Club in Los Angeles December 16, 1953. They visited the Fire Alarm Central Station where the pictures were taken. The minutes of this meeting appeared in the January Bulletin.

THE BULLETIN

The APCO Bulletin is published in Detroit, Michigan, as the official magazine of The Associated Police Communication Officers, Inc. Contributions of news and views are invited from all police communication officers, whether or not members of the Association. Manufacturers and distributors of police communication equipment, whether or not they are Bulletin advertisers, are urged to send the Editor information on developments applicable to the improvement of police communications.
